Appendix (2): Regulations for Admission of Foreign Students at Huafan University

Article 1

Huafan University (hereinafter referred to as "the University") establishes these regulations to encourage foreign students to study at the University, in accordance with the Ministry of Education's Regulations for Foreign Students Studying in Taiwan.

Article 2

Individuals who hold foreign nationality and have never held Republic of China (ROC) nationality, and who meet the following criteria, may apply for admission under these regulations:

1. They have never studied in Taiwan under the status of an overseas Chinese student.
2. They were not assigned to a school in Taiwan during the application academic year by the Overseas Joint Admissions Committee under the regulations for returning overseas Chinese students.

Individuals who hold foreign nationality and meet the following conditions, having resided overseas continuously for more than six years, may also apply under these regulations:

1. At the time of application, if the applicant simultaneously holds ROC nationality, they must never have established household registration in Taiwan.
2. If the applicant previously held ROC nationality but no longer does so at the time of application, at least eight years must have passed since the Ministry of the Interior approved the renunciation of their ROC nationality.
3. Both of the above conditions must also comply with the first and second points in the preceding paragraph.

Under educational cooperation agreements, foreign nationals recommended by foreign governments, institutions, or schools to study in Taiwan, who have never established household registration in Taiwan, may apply without being subject to the restrictions outlined in the preceding two paragraphs, provided they receive approval from the Ministry of Education.

The six-year or eight-year period mentioned in Paragraph 2 is calculated up to the start date of the intended semester (February 1 or August 1). The term "overseas" in Paragraph 2 refers to countries or regions outside Mainland China, Hong Kong, and Macau. The term "continuous residence" refers to foreign students staying in Taiwan for no more than 120 days within any calendar year.

For overseas continuous residence periods that do not span complete calendar years, the calculation will recognize that the stay in Taiwan during the period does not exceed 120 days within the specific year. However, the following situations, with supporting documentation, are exceptions; in such cases, the period spent in Taiwan will not be included in the calculation of the overseas residence period:

1. Enrollment in overseas youth technical training programs organized by the Overseas Community Affairs Council or technical training programs recognized by the Ministry of Education.
2. Enrollment in Mandarin Chinese language centers at colleges or universities approved by the Ministry of Education to admit foreign students, with a total period of less than two years.
3. Participation in student exchange programs, with the total exchange period not exceeding two years.
4. Internships in Taiwan approved by the competent central authorities, with a total internship period not exceeding two years.

Foreign nationals who also hold ROC nationality and submitted their application for renunciation of ROC nationality before the revision of the "Regulations for Foreign Students Studying in Taiwan" on February 1, 2011, may apply for admission under the original regulations and are not subject to the restrictions outlined in Paragraph 2.

Article 3

Individuals holding foreign nationality and permanent residency in Hong Kong or Macau, who have never established household registration in Taiwan and have continuously resided in Hong Kong, Macau, or overseas for at least six years at the time of application, may apply for admission under these regulations.

The term "continuous residence" in the preceding paragraph refers to individuals staying in Taiwan for no more than 120 days within any calendar year. However, exceptions apply to those who meet any of the conditions listed in Article 2, Paragraph 5, Items 1 to 4, and can provide supporting documentation. In such cases, their time spent in Taiwan will not be counted as part of the continuous residence period.

Individuals who were formerly residents of Mainland China, have acquired foreign nationality, and have never established household registration in Taiwan, may apply for admission if they have resided continuously overseas for at least six years at the time of application.

The term "continuous residence" in the preceding paragraph also refers to staying in Taiwan for no more than 120 days within any calendar year. The same exceptions and provisions for supporting documentation mentioned earlier apply, and time spent in Taiwan under these circumstances will not be included in the calculation of the continuous residence period.

The six-year continuous residence period specified in Paragraphs 1 and 3 is calculated up to the start date of the intended semester (February 1 or August 1). The definition of "overseas" specified in Article 2, Paragraph 5, also applies to this article.

Article 4

Foreign students may apply to study in Taiwan under the provisions of the previous two articles only once. If they wish to continue studying in Taiwan, they must follow the same admission procedures as domestic students. However, the following exceptions apply:

1. After completing the academic program for which they initially applied, they may apply for a master's or higher degree program in accordance with the University's regulations.
2. Foreign students who applied to study in a program below the bachelor's level and stayed in Taiwan for less than one year but withdrew from the program or lost their student status due to specific reasons may reapply to study in Taiwan, but only once.

Foreign students who were expelled or lost their student status due to poor conduct, unsatisfactory academic performance, or serious violations of laws or university regulations are not eligible to reapply under the provisions of the preceding paragraph.

Foreign students are not allowed to enroll in part-time bachelor's programs, in-service master's programs, or other programs that are offered exclusively in the evenings or on holidays. However, foreign students who already hold legal residence status in Taiwan or whose programs have been specially approved by the Ministry of Education are not subject to this restriction.

Article 5

The quota for admitting foreign students at the University is based on the principle of an additional 10% of the total student enrollment quota approved by the Ministry of Education for the previous academic year. This quota is included in the total enrollment quota for the current academic year and must be submitted to the Ministry of Education for approval. If the number of foreign students to be admitted exceeds the additional 10% of the approved enrollment quota from the previous academic year, the University must submit an expansion plan (including quality control strategies and supporting measures) to the Ministry of Education for approval. However, degree programs jointly offered with foreign universities and specially approved by the Ministry of Education are not subject to this restriction.

If the total enrollment quota approved for the previous academic year includes unfilled slots for domestic students, those slots may be filled with foreign students, subject to approval by the Ministry of Education.

The quota specified in Paragraph 1 does not include foreign students who do not hold formal student status.

Article 6

The University recruits foreign students through various means, including self-organized admissions promotions, participation in overseas education fairs, and announcements on the University's website. All promotional and recruitment activities are conducted by the University's faculty and staff and must not involve any overseas agencies.

The primary language of instruction at the University is Chinese. Foreign students applying for admission must meet a minimum language proficiency level of Band A (CEFR A2) or higher on the Test of Chinese as a Foreign Language (TOCFL).

The University admits foreign students in both the spring and fall semesters. Applicants must submit the following documents within the specified application period. Those who pass the review or selection process will be issued an admission permit:

- 1. Admission Application Form

- 2. Academic Credentials

- (1) Academic credentials from Mainland China: Must be processed in accordance with the regulations for recognition of academic credentials from Mainland China.

- (2) Academic credentials from Hong Kong or Macau: Must be processed in accordance with the regulations for recognition of academic credentials from Hong Kong and Macau.

- (3) Academic credentials from other regions:

- a. Academic credentials from Taiwan schools overseas and Taiwanese business schools in Mainland China are considered equivalent to those from schools of the same level in Taiwan.

- b. Academic credentials from foreign institutions outside the aforementioned categories must comply with the regulations for recognition of foreign academic credentials by universities. However, for foreign schools located in Mainland China or their branch campuses, the credentials must be notarized by a notarization office in Mainland China and verified by an institution established or designated by the Executive Yuan or a commissioned private organization.

- 3. Proof of Financial Support

Applicants must provide proof of sufficient financial resources to study in Taiwan or proof of full scholarships provided by the government, the University, or a private organization. The financial proof must be at least USD 3,000 (or approximately TWD 100,000).

- 4. Documents Required by the University

- (1) Two letters of recommendation.

- (2) A study plan in Chinese, which must include the applicant's study motivation, duration, and future outlook.

- (3) Application fee and a photocopy of the applicant's passport.

When reviewing applications for admission from foreign students, if there are doubts about the authenticity of documents listed in Items 2 to 4 of the preceding section that have not been verified by ROC diplomatic missions, institutions established or designated by the Executive Yuan, or commissioned private organizations, the University may request verification. For documents already verified, the University may request assistance with further authentication if necessary.

Article 7

Foreign students who have completed a bachelor's degree or higher in Taiwan and wish to continue applying for admission to a master's degree or higher program may submit their graduation certificates and transcripts from universities in Taiwan. They can apply for admission in accordance with the provisions of Article 6, without being subject to the restrictions of Paragraph 3, Subparagraph 2 of Article 6. Foreign students who graduate from foreign schools in Taiwan, or from bilingual departments (classes) in senior secondary schools or from the foreign curriculum departments of private senior secondary schools in Taiwan, may submit their graduation certificates and transcripts from these schools and apply for admission in accordance with the provisions of Article 6, without being subject to the restrictions in Paragraph 1 of Article 4 and Paragraph 3, Subparagraph 2 of Article 6.

Article 8

The admission review for foreign students at this university is conducted after the foreign students submit their application. The International and Cross-Strait Affairs Office of the university will first conduct an initial qualification review of the application documents. Those who pass the initial review will have their applications forwarded to the respective departments (institutes) for further review. Each department (institute) must evaluate the applicants based on its established admission standards, with the results reviewed by the Dean of Academic Affairs. The final list of admitted students will be submitted to the university's Admissions Committee for a decision. After the decision, the admission results will be announced, and admission notices will be issued. The admission notice shall include the foreign student's name, program name, degree level, language of instruction, academic year of enrollment, start date of the semester, tuition and fee refund policies, scholarships, and other relevant information, both in Chinese and English.

Article 9

Foreign students who are granted admission must complete the registration procedures by the specified deadline. Upon registration, new students must provide proof of having insurance that covers medical and injury expenses, with a validity period of at least six months from the date of entry into Taiwan. Current students must provide proof of enrollment in Taiwan's National Health Insurance or other relevant insurance. If the insurance is issued by a foreign institution, it must be verified by the relevant overseas office.

If a student is unable to register on time due to visa issues or other circumstances, they must submit relevant documentation and apply directly to the university for an extension of the registration deadline, with the extension not exceeding one-third of the semester. If a student is unable to enroll on time due to severe illness or a major accident, they must provide relevant documentation and apply to the university for the retention of their admission status for one year, before the registration deadline. If the student fails to complete registration and does not have approval for deferred admission or an extension, it will be considered as forfeiting their admission status.

Article 10

Foreign students registering for admission to this university who have not exceeded one-third of the first semester's academic period of that academic year will enroll in the current semester. If they have exceeded one-third of the first semester's academic period, they will be required to register and enroll in the second semester or the following academic year. However, if there are other regulations set by the Ministry of Education, they shall take precedence.

Article 11

The university shall immediately register the foreign student's admission, transfer, leave of absence, withdrawal, or changes in student status in the Ministry of Education's designated foreign student information management system.

Article 12

The application for admission of foreign students is handled by the International and Cross-Strait Affairs Office. After admission is granted, academic counseling and assessment during the student's enrollment are managed by the respective department or institute. Matters related to life counseling, communication, and other related issues are handled by the College Education Office. The College Education Office should strengthen arrangements for host families and assist foreign students in learning the national language and culture to enhance their understanding of the country. Additionally, the office should organize periodic counseling activities or promote campus internationalization, which helps facilitate interactions and exchanges between local and foreign students.

Article 13

After graduating from this university, foreign students who are approved by the university and the Ministry of Education to undertake internships in Taiwan may have their foreign student status extended for up to one year after graduation.

Foreign students who apply for household registration, household transfer, naturalization, or restoration of the Republic of China nationality during their study period in Taiwan will lose their foreign student status and should be withdrawn from the university. However, this does not apply to students who are admitted under the same conditions as domestic students, or to those who apply for naturalization under Articles 1 through 3 of the Nationality Act.

Article 13-1

Foreign students who transfer between universities in Taiwan must follow the relevant regulations for transfer exams applicable to domestic students at this university. Foreign students who are expelled from their current university due to failing their conduct assessment or being convicted of a criminal offense resulting in a final judgment will not be allowed to transfer to this university.

Article 14
